

“Ordinary People Committed to Action in Extraordinary Times”

Indivisible Guide

LINC is a force for social, racial, economic and environmental justice through personal engagement, education and political action. It was formed by Long Islanders in response to the policies and actions of the current administration.

What we do:

- Advocate for relevant issues with elected officials through telephone calls (there is a script)
- Present community forums on upcoming elections, racism, the environment and much more
- Initiate strategically-timed letter writing and email campaigns
- Publicize and distribute up-to-the-minute action alerts
- Attend and be heard at town hall meetings, rallies and demonstrations
- Convene regularly scheduled LINC meetings to strategize and take action
